

How to be the Big Person your Little Person needs

How to be the big person your little person needs is a guide for parents with toddlers who are seeking a calmer life with improved behaviour from their children. The world of parenting advice has become overwhelming, confusing and often conflicting. This has left parents totally bewildered and terrified to take control of the situation. What is the best way? What if they fail? Maybe it is just easier to wait until she grows out of it. It enables the reader to cut through the noise of the parenting advice industry and really look at their own situation and what will work in their household. It provides step by step instructions for having: Peaceful households. Long restful nights. Finished meals. Tranquil babies. Sibling harmony. Fantastic little listeners. Big people time every evening. A solid support network. Being able to look after you, and them too. This book is different to other books about childrens behaviour because it has a strong focus on the Big People too. To be confident, happy, well adjusted little people, we must see these attributes in the Big People that we look up to. That is why How to be the Big Person your Little Person needs is written to instill self-belief in parents and teach them to trust their own intuition. Then they will be empowered to raise Little People with simple techniques and strategies confidently.
