

Sewage Works Analyses (Classic Reprint)

The following book has been written in response to several requests for an account of the methods of analysis in use in the laboratory of the Manchester Corporation Sewage Works. Through the courtesy of Mr. F. Scudder, the author has also been able to include descriptions of some of the more important processes employed in the laboratory of the Mersey and Irwell Joint Committee. In general, it may be said that the Joint Committee methods are designed for cases where samples from different works have to be critically examined, the Manchester methods for the analysis of a large number of samples of sewage and effluents of the same general character. The successful application of modern bacterial processes will necessitate careful chemical control. (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and do not occur in the book.)
